Mark Vilimaa

Since leaving Penno, I completed a degree in Surveying at UNSW as well as a Grad Diploma in computing at Canberra CAE, and have been in working in IT as a consultant for the last 15 years, working mostly for large (Ozzie) companies as well as for the State & Federal governments.

In between, have travelled to the subcontinent a number of times, as well as to THE Europe to visit my forebears.

Married in 1995 & the proud dad of two highly-charged boys. Separated from their Mum & living in Brisbane where I'm currently consulting to a State govt dept.

Interests these days :-

- helping my two boys reach their potential
- astanga yoga
- soccer (watching the EPL, as well as coaching my older boy's under 8's)
- software development - by writing a s/w development infrastructure in assembler while wearing glasses in a garage, I'm trying to emulate those silicon valley pioneers who developed a killer app, then sold their slice of the company for squillions before buying a football team & retiring on a Pacific Island with wife no 2
